What are the big themes for the year ahead?

Michael Hartnett
Chief Investment Strategist
BofA Merrill Lynch Global Research

Assets tied to our three key themes of growth, yield and quality should continue to offer benefits to investors in the coming year.

Well we think a lot of the investment themes that we are recommending for our clients this year is based on our assumption that the backdrop is going to remain one of high liquidity and low-ish growth.

Three Investments Themes for 2013
- Growth
- Yield
- Quality

That backdrop really has been exceptionally beneficial over the last four or five years for any asset that has growth because in a zero growth environment clearly assets that provide growth such as the tech sector will do very well. We think the theme of yield will continue to work because we expect interest rates to stay very low, and this theme of quality which also should continue to do well because even though the U.S. is progressing through the deleveraging cycle clearly it's got some way still to go in Europe.

Themes of growth, themes of yield, themes of quality, some exposure within your portfolios is something we would recommend.

However, in 2012 you also saw the emergence of a new theme. A stealth rotation took place in 2012 and we think that will morph into a great rotation in 2013 whereby the bond market, which has been incredibly strong for the best part of 20, 30 years, that peaks. You start to see people question whether yields can go any lower.
How Low Can Yields Go?

And if you look at this chart where we have a chart of U.S. yields over time. You can see this extraordinary decline that we've seen in yields all the way from 14, 15% back in the early '80s to 1, 2% today. We think that if clients get some belief that yields are not going to go any lower. They're going to start to question those longer term returns that they get from bonds.

That will cause rotation toward the equity markets and the beneficiary of that in particular will be the banking stocks both in the U.S. and elsewhere in the world because they have been the big laggards, and they also are the most correlated with bond yields. We think growth, yield, quality, adding a little bit of spice if you like from the financials, that's the way we would look at 2013.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Investing involves risk. All opinions are subject to change due to market conditions and fluctuations. This information discusses general market activity, industry or sector trends, or other broad-based economic, market or political conditions and should not be construed as research or investment advice.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Investments focused in a certain industry may pose additional risks due to lack of diversification, industry volatility, economic turmoil, susceptibility to economic, political or regulatory risks and other sector concentration risks.

Any information presented in connection with BofA Merrill Lynch Global Research is general in nature and is not intended to provide personal investment advice. The information does not take into account the specific investment objectives, financial situation and particular needs of any specific person who may receive it. Investors should understand that statements regarding future prospects may not be realized.

BofA Merrill Lynch, through business units other than BofA Merrill Lynch Global Research, may have issued and may in the future issue trading ideas or recommendations that are inconsistent with, and reach different conclusions from, the information provided in this discussion. Such ideas or recommendations reflect the different time frames, assumptions, views and analytical methods of the persons who provided them, and BofA Merrill Lynch is under no obligation to ensure that such other trading ideas or recommendations are brought to the attention of any participant of this video.

Investors should seek financial advice regarding the appropriateness of investing in any securities, other investment or investment strategies discussed in this report and should understand that statements regarding future prospects may not be realized. Investors should note that income from securities or other investments, if any, may fluctuate and that price or value of such securities and investments may rise or fall. Accordingly, investors may receive back less than originally invested. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance.

Global Wealth & Investment Management is a division of Bank of America Corporation ("BAC").

Merrill Lynch Wealth Management makes available products and services offered by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated ("MLPF&S") and other subsidiaries of BAC. Merrill Edge™ is the marketing name for two businesses: Merrill Edge Advisory Center, which offers team-based advice and guidance brokerage services; and a self-directed online investing platform.

U.S. Trust, Bank of America Private Wealth Management operates through Bank of America, N.A., and other subsidiaries of BAC.

Bank of America Merrill Lynch is a marketing name for the Retirement & Philanthropic Services businesses of BAC.

BofA™ Global Capital Management Group, LLC ("BofA Global Capital Management"), is an asset management division of BAC. BofA Global Capital Management entities furnish investment management services and products for institutional and individual investors.

The Private Banking and Investment Group is a division of MLPF&S that offers a broad array of personalized wealth management products and services. Both brokerage and investment advisory services (including financial planning) are offered by the Group's Private Wealth Advisors through MLPF&S, a registered broker-dealer and registered investment adviser. The nature and degree of advice and assistance provided, the fees charged, and client rights and Merrill Lynch's obligations will differ among these services. Investments involve risk, including the possible loss of principal investment.

The banking, credit and trust services sold by the Group's Private Wealth Advisors are offered by licensed banks and trust companies, including Bank of America, N.A., member FDIC, and other affiliated banks.

Banking products are provided by Bank of America, N.A., and affiliated banks, Members FDIC and wholly owned subsidiaries of BAC.

Investment products:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Are Not FDIC Insured</th>
<th>Are Not Bank Guaranteed</th>
<th>May Lose Value</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

MLPF&S is a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC and a wholly owned subsidiary of MLPF&S and Bank of America, N.A. make available investment products sponsored, managed, distributed or provided by companies that are affiliates of BAC or in which BAC has a substantial economic interest, including BofA™ Global Capital Management.

© 2012 Bank of America Corporation. All rights reserved.